Know what needs to be done

Clear your mind with our in-built diary

Every business has daily tasks. Did I remember to make that follow up call? When do I need to pay my suppliers?

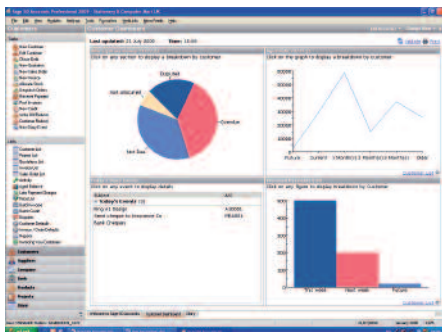

Our in-built diary helps prioritise the daily workload, sets reminders for recurring tasks, automates diary events (such as following up promised payments) and integrates with Microsoft® Outlook. You can also link your tasks to your contacts, so you have all the details you need right then and there.

See your finances
clearly

Track the flow of your money
with our improved dashboard

It's important to know your financial position. Our improved dashboard lets you see an instant view of the credit position of your business. You can see where your money is, how old your customer or supplier debt is, what's due, what's overdue, what's disputed, what's promised to pay and what's still to be allocated all in one place.

Working with customers
and suppliers

Sage 50 Accounts 2009 has been designed to help ensure that you'll always get paid on time.

We've included a range of features to help with chasing debt and collecting money from customers, as well as features to make paying your suppliers easier too.

In fact, it really has everything your business needs to keep your cash flow healthy, and your customer and supplier relationships as strong as possible.

Pay on time
and be paid
on time

Keep your business breathing with our improved chase debt feature

Cash flow is the lifeblood of any business. Always know who you should be spending time chasing for payments; for example what's overdue, when money is due in and who has promised payment. Promised payments are automatically added to the diary and if payments are not received, you'll be reminded to follow them up.

Keep your supplier relationships healthy as well

You can see who you need to pay based on supplier and age criteria. So you can see what payment commitments you'll need to make in the coming weeks and months, helping you plan ahead.

Make things easier for customers

Let customers know what they owe with deposit managing

You need to know who owes you money. Whether you're taking payments before you confirm an order, or at the point of sale, your customers can see at a glance what they owe and by when. Just one more feature to take the hassle out of chasing payments, keeping your cash flow healthy and your business breathing.

Keep track of your discounts with improved discount management

A little goodwill is good for business. Percentage discounts and one-off reductions are a great way to build your customer relationships, and they can be calculated on the total value of your invoices or orders. So you can keep track of every incentive you offer and know just how much they're costing you.

Build strong relationships

Give the right person the right message... on time, every time

It's important to know your contacts. Different people like to be contacted at different times in different ways. That's why you can now record and store names, telephone numbers, email addresses, office addresses, preferred contact times and mailing preferences for all of your contacts, all in one place. And when you make invoice, letter and statement runs, you can be sure that the documents have been sent to the correct person, ensuring action will be taken quickly.

Flexible payment methods to keep your customers and supplier relationships strong

Everybody likes the freedom of choice. Your suppliers might insist on being paid in different ways. That's why you can do a cheque run for all suppliers who like to be paid this way, or an e-payment run for those who want BACS payments.

With Sage Payments Solution*, your customers will have an easier way to pay as well - directly by card. This can be done over the phone or even online.

Working with your accounts

Sage 50 Accounts 2009 recognises that keeping records of your basic transaction details, and getting them right, is crucial for your business.

But working with columns and figures can be complicated, which is why Sage 50 Accounts 2009 helps to make this information as easy to understand as possible.

Bank balances, month and year end obligations, VAT returns and business reports - you'll find all the management information you need to sort your accounts in no time.

Working with your bank balance

Handle your transactions fluidly with improved bank reconciliation

Your bank balance is your business. Bank reconciliation is easier than ever before. 'Smart Totals' allow you to see the value of any highlighted transaction. And with our new retrospective bank reconciliation report, you'll be able to see the reconciled balance of your account at any given time - particularly useful at month and year-end.

e-Bank Reconciliation also means that all your transactions in Sage 50 Accounts 2009 are reconciled with your banking software. You can even download a bank statement and automatically reconcile payments and receipts against both statements.

Keep your software as fresh as your business, with automatic updates

You want your software to perform to the highest possible standard. Our automatic updates feature lets you know if there's anything you need to make your software more efficient, and quickly updates it for you.

VAT made simple

Do VAT returns quickly and easily with improved VAT management

Nobody likes doing VAT returns. Sage 50 Accounts has all the tools you need to prepare, generate and reconcile your VAT returns all in one place, and making sure that you're doing it correctly. Adjustments are easy too - you can record the amount, together with the reasons for each adjustment, to help you and your accountant reconcile the changes. Perfect when facing inspections from HM Revenue & Customs (HMRC).

Do things by the book with HMRC recognised VAT e-submissions

Sage 50 Accounts has been fully tested and has achieved recognition for filing VAT returns to HMRC. So you can send all of your information online by e-submission - something that will be mandatory from 2010. You will also have complete peace of mind knowing that you're recording and submitting the information accurately and securely.

Reports made flexible

You need to be able to view your business information the way you want to

The flexibility to view your reports the way you want to see them isn't just a luxury, it's often a necessity. If you need to see more than just your monthly figures in your Profit and Loss and Balance Sheet reports, Sage 50 Accounts 2009 lets you view them month-by-month, quarter-by-quarter or year-on-year, all in the same report.

We've also included pre-defined reports to help you analyse what's going on in your business, but these are flexible too. When looking for specific information, you can choose what you want to compare based on the factors that are most important to your business. So you'll be able to make more informed business decisions.

Mistakes are natural Corrections are easy

Everybody makes mistakes, but correcting them has never been easier. You can find, view, correct, or even delete transactions or postings at the touch of a button.

Make everything work together

So many reports need to be run off on a regular basis

Our new batch reporting feature allows you create your own batches of reports and run them off all in one go - whether that's as Excel (XLS), PDF or email files, printed documents, or just previews. So no report will ever get missed. You can also continue to work on Sage 50 Accounts 2009 while the reports are running, time you could use to make a call to chase money.

Integrate Sage 50 Accounts 2009 with Microsoft® Office

Sage 50 Accounts 2009 comes with Excel Integrated Reporting, which means that you can now link Microsoft® Excel directly to your accounts data. So other people in your business can access and analyse accounts information without needing to use the software themselves.

Sage 50 Accounts 2009 also works seamlessly with other Microsoft® Office software, such as Outlook and Word, allowing true integration across all of the software you use every day.

Do business anywhere

Handle foreign currency professionally

There may be times when your business needs to handle different currencies, which is why Sage 50 Accounts 2009 allows you to process transactions in all the major ones. So you can produce invoices, credit notes, sales and purchase orders and make and receive payments in different currency.

You'll also be able to maintain foreign currency price lists, handle exchange rate fluctuations, and comply with all the legislation required regarding VAT. So you'll have everything you need to do business abroad.

Department management made simple

See a clear view of department performance with advanced budget management

If you run several departments, you can now monitor their performance even closer and more efficiently than ever before. Whatever you use your departments for you can identify the most profitable, most cost effective, best and worst performing departments on a month by month basis. There's no need to generate reports to view budgets or department performances, and it's also easy to manage transition into the new financial year.

Breeze through the new features with ease

Our improved assistance feature means you can quickly learn all the features of Sage 50 Accounts 2009 with ease. There's also a library of videos to guide you through them, and you can try out a new area of the software or a new posting with our practice feature first.

Working with your products

Whatever type of business you run and whatever it has to offer, handling your products is an essential part of your day-to-day tasks.

So be sure to give yourself a little extra help when it comes to what you have coming in, what you have going out, and what's already been sent off.

Manage stock with ease

Tracking your stock is essential. That's why improved stock allocation is essential too

As well as allocating stock to sales orders, you can now allocate it to projects, or set it aside for specific purposes. So when it comes to those occasions where you need to reserve stock for a particular customer, work order, job, or for any other reason, Sage 50 Accounts 2009 is absolutely essential.

You can then review and modify these reservations and when you need to, simply issue the stock to automatically record the fact that you've used it.
